

Design Our Dream Park

August 2014 to May 2015

This one-year public art programme aimed to encourage people in Yau Ma Tei to explore the possibilities of public space by means of designing chairs for the dream park through participating in interviews, focus groups, voting and spatial experiment. The chairs decorated by the locals were displayed in the community together with different interactive art activities. The whole community engagement process has been documented in a book and a roving exhibition in the community.
