

Wu Dao Qing Nian 2015

February to December 2015

A community dance programme offering a series of modern dance workshops to talented young people recruited from the local community. A group of untrained participants were also recruited through community showcases to undergo introductory dance training. Both groups of participants shared modern dance with the local community in various old urban districts.

Some photos are provided by the presenter

Presented by City Contemporary Dance Company